GETTING READY FOR SOMETHING UNUSUAL — Pointing to the first election in the Dominican Republic in nearly 40 years, political parties are marking political slogans on every available wall. The three men carrying the mattress in Santo Domingo, the capital, are unidentified.

No Delay Seen In Latin Poll

Dominican Republic Vote First since 1924

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican Republic apparently is going to have its first dictator-free election in 38 years on Thursday despite a major party's demand for a one-month postponement.

The Dominican Revolutionary party, which demanded the postponement because a Roman Catholic priest called it communistic may even participate in the election against its will.

Emilio de los Santos, president of the National Electoral Board, declared Monday night that so far as the board was concerned the elections will not be put off.

He said there is no way for the Revolutionary party to withdraw from the ballot at this late date.

The government had not yet acted on the postponement petition, but President Rafael Bonnelly scheduled a nationwide address tonight calling on Dominicans to exercise their right to vote. This was accepted as a sign the petition would be rejected.

Juan Bosch, 53, leader of the Dominican Revolutionary party, had been rated in some informal polls as a winner over the conservative National Civic Union but he withdrew from the presidential race and called on the voters to boycott the polls unless voting was postponed for a month.

He said the delay was needed to clear the air of the accusation by a Spanish Jesuit priest, Laudico Garcia, that Bosch and his party are communistic.

Bosch said the party was trapped—if it lost the election it would be said it lost because it was Communist, and if it won its reform legislation would be opposed on the grounds it was communistic.

Competent observers said the charge dealt the party a hard blow in rural areas where it had been strongest, and where the church is strongest too.

Peewee, Fatty Hold Rare Yule Party

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—For "Peewee," 7, and "Fatty," 9, it was like Christmas.

They spent 11 hours alone in a closed department store—a store with lots of toys, cameras, shoes, watches—even a soda fountain.

During their escapade—they said they were locked in the store Saturday night—the kids sampled practically everything edible in the store, and each chose an expensive camera and a wrist watch. "Fatty" was clomping around in size 10 shoes and "Peewee" had a fountain pen.

Judge M. Edward Viola of Juvenile Court let them off with a reprimand Monday, but frowning police reminded the marauding pair: "Wait until your fathers get hold of you."

"Peewee" and "Fatty" began crying.

County Section Included in Highway Bids

A bid for construction of 3.54 miles of interstate 71 in Franklin and Pickaway County on the Columbus-Cincinnati leg was among those opened today.

A short section of the much-discussed superhighway spans the northwest section of Pickaway County.

Among the jobs for which construction firms submitted estimates are:

Clinton and Green counties — 7.33 miles of Interstate 71 superhighway from a half-mile east of U.S. 68 to near Ohio 72, part of the much-discussed Columbus-Cincinnati leg of the southwest-to-northeast super-road. Apparent low bid: Rhoten Construction Co., and W. E. Ringwald & Sons, Columbus, $3,625,900. State estimate: $4,492,800.

Franklin and Pickaway Counties — 3.54 miles of Interstate 71's Columbus-Cincinnati leg, connecting with the present end of Interstate 71 in southern Franklin County. Apparent low bid: W. L. Johnson Construction Co., Columbus, $3,538,314. Estimate: $4,203,000.

Warren County — 5.2 miles of Interstate 71's Columbus-Cincinnati leg in Washington and Massie Townships. Apparent low bid: Perini Corp., Framingham, Mass. $3,026,033. Estimate: $3,378,000.

Actor's Actor, Tom Mitchell, Dies at 70

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Thomas Mitchell, an actor's actor, honored by his colleagues with the highest awards of stage, screen and television, is dead of cancer at 70.

He succumbed Monday, the deadly disease's second victim in two days among the famous names of Hollywood. The other was Charles Laughton, 63, who died Saturday.

They appeared once together in a movie—"The Hunchback of Notre Dame" in 1939.

The bushy-browed Mitchell, who had the face of an Irish leprechaun and the soul of a devilish poet, was most famous for his role of Scarlett O'Hara's father in "Gone With The Wind."

That same year Mitchell also played the boozy frontier doctor in "Stagecoach," a picture many critics believe the finest Western ever made.

In the Academy Awards that year—1939—Mitchell was mainly in competition with himself. His performance in "Stagecoach" won him the Oscar for best supporting actor.

In 1952 he won television's Emmy for best dramatic performance and in 1953 he got the legitimate theater's Tony for his role in the Broadway musical "Hazel Flagg."

Chardon Area Gets Push-Button Phone

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — A push-button telephone went into use today in this Geauga County seat. The Mid-Continent Telephone Corp. said it was the first use of the push-button telephone on a commercial basis in the United States.

The new telephone utilizes push buttons to actuate electronic pulses in place of conventional equipment. Use of the new instruments, called "Touch Tone" or "Touch Button" is made possible, the company said, by a significant development in communications—the first solid-state electronic telephone switching equipment tied to a conventional electromechanical central office.

Talks To Cover Strain Within Both NATO, Communist Camps

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—President Kennedy flew to this resort island today for summit talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan dealing both with strains in the Western alliance and divisions in the Communist bloc. The American-British furor over the Skybolt missile program, the ideological break between Moscow and Peking, and prospects, if any, of improving relations between the Soviet Union and the West were expected to rank high on the list of subjects.

Kennedy's jet plane landed under a brilliant sun after a two-hour flight from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., near Washington. Macmillan headed the official welcoming party.

The temperature was in the low 70s. Breezes fluttered the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes on poles beside the landing strip. Flags of the Commonwealth nations decorated the airport terminal building. White-helmeted Bahamian police formed an honor guard.

Kennedy touched on world problems in a filmed radio-television interview broadcast Monday night in the United States.

The President said it will be some time before the United States can "come to any real understanding" with Soviet Premier Khrushchev. He said that while the Cuban showdown taught Khrushchev something about U.S. determination, great dangers still exist and the West cannot let down its guard.

"One mistake can make this whole thing blow up," he said. Without minimizing the danger of the Soviet's goal of world communism, the President said "We would be far worse off—the world would be—if the Chinese dominated the Communist movement."

As for the Skybolts, a still unproved American missile with which Britain wants to arm its bombers, the President discounted the need for such a weapon. His administration proposes to junk production plans.

"When we start talking about this $2.5-billion program," he said "we do not think we are going to get $2.5 billion worth of national security."

The original plan for the conference of Macmillan and Kennedy was for a generalized survey of the world after the Cuban crisis. But that crisis has since been overshadowed by the Skybolt issue, a crucial one in Britain's budgetary planning; and divisions within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization such as European resistance to the American idea that ground forces should be built up to levels adequate for defense in conventional warfare.

Columbus Development Firm Presents Housing Proposal

A Columbus development firm yesterday made a proposal before several civic leaders and businessmen concerning a housing project north of Circleville on the south-east side of Walnut Creek Pike.

David L. Durschnitt, a Columbus attorney representing Jay Enterprises Inc., submitted drawings of 91.19 acres, formerly owned by David Glick, as the site for a housing project.

Durschnitt told the gathering, in Council Chambers at City Hall, that his client is interested in "developing the area if it would be good for Circleville as well as Jay Enterprises."

The attorney explained that the acreage would first have to be studied by Ronald Sharrett, Circleville's service director, before further negotiations would be made. Sharrett's studies are to disclose the possibility of serving the area with sanitary sewers.

IN HIS proposal, Durschnitt said

Kennedy Says Khrush Learns Lesson, But Understanding with U.S. Lacking

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy believes the Cuban crisis taught Soviet Premier Khrushchev "how dangerous a world we live in" but that it will be some time before the United States will "come to any real understanding" with him.

If the Communists would devote their energies to demonstrating how their system works instead of trying to change the balance of power "we could have a long period of peace," Kennedy said. But it is, he said, the Red Chinese and Soviet determination to make a Communist world in a nuclear age that "makes the sixties so dangerous."

However, in a chatty interview that set a television "first" Monday night, the President said "we ought to be rather pleased with ourselves this Christmas" for thwarting the threat of Communist domination.

The President made no effort to paint a rosy picture of U.S.-Soviet relations in the interview which was also carried on radio.

The Cuban crisis, he said, has made successful negotiations with the Kremlin more difficult because the Russians — through deception — tried to change the balance of power by sneaking missiles into Cuba.

"So it is going to be some time before it is possible for us to come to any real understanding with Mr. Khrushchev."

And he saw no advantage in a summit meeting soon.

"I don't think there is a need for us to meet now," he said. "I think probably he feels the same way."

Kennedy said, though, that the Soviet premier's speech to the Supreme Soviet (parliament) last week shows that he realizes perils of the nuclear age.

Khrushchev knows, he said, that if Russia ever fires its missiles the United States will have enough to "fire back at him to destroy the Soviet Union."

The chief executive covered much of the world in an hour-long question-and-answer session with William H. Lawrence of ABC, George Herman of CBS and Sander Vanocur of NBC.

The verbal tour brought out evidence that Kennedy has all but written off the possibility of opening Cuba — or any Communist territory — to inspection. Yet his administration has laid down a fundamental policy that inspection is vital in Cuba and necessary to any disarmament pact with Russia.

It brought out word, too, that Kennedy still thinks he was right in forcing a rollback of steel prices and in ordering troops onto the University of Mississippi campus. (Continued on Page 2)

Soviets Build Science City

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Sen. William Benton of Connecticut back from a trip to the Soviet union, reports the Soviets are building a vast new "science city" deep in Siberia. He calls it "one of the most extraordinary scientific centers in the world."

Writing in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post, Benton said the center, with 16 separate scientific institutes and designed to house 50,000 research workers, "is a striking symbol of the Soviet intellectual challenge to the West."

He said the center is the first of several which the Soviet Union plans to build across Siberia. He said it could be matched in this country only if the theoretical research departments of several universities were combined with research divisions of several industrial giants.

Another House Rules Fight Looms for Next Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Talk of a compromise in the threatened liberal-conservative fight over the House Rules Committee apparently has fallen on deaf ears.

Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., chairman of the committee and leaders of conservative Democrats, said he was not "bargaining" in his position that the committee membership return to 12 as scheduled next month.

And President Kennedy said Monday night that if the committee does revert to 12 members the administration's program "would be emasculated."

Smith led the fight against enlargement of the committee to 15 members in January 1961. He lost by a 217 — 212 vote to a liberal group led by the late Sam Rayburn of Texas. The increase, designed to give committee liberals an edge of 8 to 7, was for a two-year period only. Prior to 1961, the committee was dominated by a conservative group of four Republicans and two Democrats.

House leaders have said they will renew the fight next month, when the new House convenes, to enlarge the committee. They claim they have enough votes to win, but their claims are disputed. They have suggested a "compromise" that would restore the membership to 15 but not clip its powers as some liberals have suggested.

Kennedy gave the House leaders strong backing Monday night in his nationally televised review of his first two years in the White House.

Indians Dig In Against Chinese

It May Take Years To Drive Out Reds

LEH, India (AP)—Indian troops are digging in along the frozen, windswept cease-fire line in Ladakh, one of the world's bleakest areas. Their officers talk of driving the Chinese out, but admit it would take years.

Only wisps of snow dust across the bare plateau northeast of here where two powerful Chinese divisions are poised. The Himalayas and Karakoram — the world's second mightiest mountain range—are so high they cut off snowfall from areas where the bloody fighting occurred in October and November.

Key passes in China's Sinkiang Province to the north are reportedly closed by snow, but the Chinese access routes from Tibet, an arsenal to the east, are still open. And the Chinese strength is so superior in Ladakh that Peking can press the trigger again whenever it wants to.

To avoid giving provocation, Indian troops are not moving forward into the no-man's land left between the two sides. But there is no sign that they are pulling back the 12½ miles demanded by Peking in its cease-fire proclamation.

As many as 50 Indian air force planes, thread their way daily through the Himalayas — when weather permits — ferrying supplies. The only road connecting Ladakh to the rest of India is closed by snow.

Big U.S. Air Force C130s with American crews also swoop past a 900-year-old Tibetan-style monastery to land cargo on Leh's steel-strip runway.

In the bitter fighting in Ladakh, most of the battle was over in two days. India lost an estimated 491 men; garrisons of some posts were almost entirely wiped out, officers at headquarters reported.

Yule Traffic To Kill 650

CHICAGO (AP) —Traffic accidents during the long Christmas holiday, the National Safety Council estimates, may kill between 650 and 750 persons and cause disabling injuries to between 27,000 and 33,000 others.

The council's estimates cover the 102-hour holiday period from 6 p. m., local time, Friday, Dec. 21 to midnight Dec. 25.

The council said Monday that during a comparable nonholiday period at this time of year, 470 persons are killed and 20,000 suffer disabling injuries.

The record traffic death toll for any holiday period was the four-day Christmas period of 1956 when 705 persons lost their lives in highway accidents. In last year's three-day Christmas holiday, traffic deaths totaled 524.

The Democrats retained control of the City Council. Deschambault was seeking his sixth one-year term.

U.S. Attorney Seeks Castro's Final Go-Ahead

Medicines, Food Supply To Be Traded For Invasion Crew

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—New York attorney James B. Donovan flew to Havana today in an effort to complete negotiations with Fidel Castro for release of 1,113 Cuba invasion prisoners in exchange for food and medicine.

Donovan and three officials of the Cuban Families Committee composed of relatives of the prisoners left aboard a special Pan American World Airways plane.

The plane took off at 9:56 a. m. from a guarded and secluded runway a mile distant from Miami International Airport. The public was barred.

The International Red Cross, which assumed sponsorship of the exchange, also waited for Castro's word.

A flow of medical supplies to Miami has begun, presumably to be swapped for the prisoners it was learned in New York.

Trans World Airlines said one of its planes, under charter, Monday night flew 32,000 pounds of medicine to Miami from Idlewild Airport.

It said that between now and Friday, 28,000 pounds will be flown from St. Louis, Mo., and 19,000 pounds from Los Angeles, bound for Miami.

The airline said the shipments were ordered by the Air Transport Association, a private organization of aviation industry executives.

In Miami, relatives of the prisoners waited hopefully for Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro to say when and if he will accept food and medicine for their freedom.

The S. S. African Pilot, 435-foot freighter designated by the International Red Cross as the vessel to deliver the ransom to Cuba, headed south from Baltimore and is due at Port Everglades, 30 miles north of Miami, Wednesday. The Red Cross has assumed sponsorship of the exchange.

If Castro and the negotiators agree, the ship will be loaded with food and medicine stockpiled at Miami.

Plans call for Pan American World Airways jets to fly to Havana to pick up the prisoners. The ship will be in port or at sea headed for Cuba when the planes take off from Havana.

Castro has demanded $62 million worth of food and medical supplies or equipment in exchange for the prisoners.

The dollar figure is supposed to represent Havana prices and in the United States is estimated to be worth $13 million at wholesale.

Ray Adiel, president of the Empress of Bahamas Travel Service, said in Miami that the Red Cross had accepted an offer to use without charge the 1,300-passenger liner Empress of Bahamas to ferry the prisoners.

The ship was tied up at Miami in a court battle between her German owners and holders of the charter rights to the vessel.

In Washington, the Red Cross said that the Empress of Bahamas was under consideration pending the outcome of final negotiations over terms of the prisoners' release.

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—With a shower of sparks and shriek of straining steel, at least 12 cars of an eastbound Pennsylvania Railroad freight train left the tracks two miles west of Upper Sandusky today.

Most of the cars are the so-called "piggybacks" used to haul automobiles. No one was reported injured, but tracks were twisted away from ties.

Crews immediately began clearing the area.

Columbus Development Firm Presents Housing Proposal

A Columbus development firm yesterday made a proposal before several city leaders and businessmen concerning a housing project north of Circleville on the south-east side of Walnut Creek Pike.

David L. Durschnitt, a Columbus attorney representing Jay Enterprises Inc., submitted drawings of 91.19 acres, formerly owned by David Glick, as the site for a housing project.

Durschnitt told the gathering, in Council Chambers at City Hall, that his client is interested in "developing the area if it would be good for Circleville as well as Jay Enterprises."

The attorney explained that the acreage would first have to be studied by Ronald Sharrett, Circleville's service director, before further negotiations would be made. Sharrett's studies are to disclose the possibility of serving the area with sanitary sewers.

IN HIS proposal, Durschnitt said that two problems would have to be settled before his firm would take any further action. First, he said, the city must ascertain the economic feasibility of sanitary sewers for the area; and secondly, the subdivision would have to be incorporated.

According to Mayor Richard Penn, Feb. 1, 1963, has been set as the date to inform the development firm if sewer lines could be extended to the Walnut Creek Pike site.

If Sharrett's studies should prove favorable, Mayor Penn said, action will be taken toward annexation of the 91.19 acres and possibly land in the Dunkel Road vicinity.

Durschnitt said thousands of dollars have already been spent by his firm in studying this area. He said results of a survey conducted here showed that there is need of apartments and "good housing at low costs."

needed upon the community's need and that "we will build what city officials say would be good for Circleville. . . we will not set quotas. . . the people will."

Jay Enterprises purchased the 91.19 acres several months ago from The Columbus Production Credit Assn. Earl Smith, is the local attorney representing the development firm.

OTHERS attending the meeting including Kenneth Robbins, city solicitor; Douglas Cotterman manager of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.; E. G. Parsons, local manager of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.; Ervin Leist, city utilities manager; J. Ludwig Haacker, city Planning and Zoning Commission; and John Robinson, a landowner in the Dunkel Road area.

No opposition toward Durschnitt's proposal was offered by those in attendance.

Bodies of 2 Boys Are Found in Creek

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The bodies of two seven-year-old boys who had been missing from their homes since 4:30 p. m. Monday, were found in Buck Creek near the Plum Street Bridge today.

The drowning victims were James Hatcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hatcher and Beney Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy R. Price.

Their homes are not far from the creek where the bodies were found. Police, firemen and deputy sheriffs had searched the area during the night.

Officers said the boys' tracks had been followed to the bank of the creek, and that apparently they had fallen through the ice when they ventured away from the bank.

Indians Dig In Against Chinese

It May Take Years To Drive Out Reds

LEH, India (AP)—Indian troops are digging in along the frozen, windswept cease fire line in Ladakh, one of the world's bleakest areas. Their officers talk of driving the Chinese out, but admit it would take years.

Only wisps of snow dust across the bare plateau northeast of here where two powerful Chinese divisions are poised. The Himalayas and Karakoram — the world's second mightiest mountain range—are so high they cut off snowfall from areas where the bloody fighting occurred in October and November.

Key passes in China's Sinkiang Province to the north are reportedly closed by snow, but the Chinese access routes from Tibet, an arsenal to the east, are still open. And the Chinese strength is so superior in Ladakh that Peking can press the trigger again whenever it wants to.

To avoid giving provocation, Indian troops are not moving forward into the no-man's land left between the two sides. But there is no sign that they are pulling back the 12½ miles demanded by Peking in its cease-fire proclamation.

As many as 50 Indian air force planes, thread their way daily through the Himalayas — when weather permits — ferrying supplies. The only road connecting Ladakh to the rest of India is closed by snow.

Big U.S. Air Force C130s with American crews also swoop past a 900-year-old Tibetan-style monastery to land cargo on Leh's steel-strip runway.

In the bitter fighting in Ladakh, most of the battle was over in two days. India lost an estimated 491 men; garrisons of some posts were almost entirely wiped out, officers at headquarters reported.

Yule Traffic To Kill 650

CHICAGO (AP) —Traffic accidents during the long Christmas holiday, the National Safety Council estimates, may kill between 650 and 750 persons and cause disabling injuries to between 27,000 and 33,000 others.

The council's estimates cover the 102-hour holiday period from 6 p. m., local time, Friday, Dec. 21 to midnight Dec. 25.

The council said Monday that during a comparable nonholiday period at this time of year, 470 persons are killed and 20,000 suffer disabling injuries.

The record traffic death toll for any holiday period was the four-day Christmas period of 1956 when 703 persons lost their lives in highway accidents. In last year's three-day Christmas holiday, traffic deaths totaled 324.

U.S. Attorney Seeks Castro's Final Go-Ahead

Medicines, Food Supply To Be Traded For Invasion Crew

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—New York attorney James B. Donovan flew to Havana today in an effort to complete negotiations with Fidel Castro for release of 1,113 Cuban invasion prisoners in exchange for food and medicine.

Donovan and three officials of the Cuban Families Committee composed of relatives of the prisoners left aboard a special Pan American World Airways plane.

The plane took off at 9:56 a. m. from a guarded and secluded runway a mile distant from Miami International Airport. The public was barred.

The International Red Cross, which assumed sponsorship of the exchange, also waited for Castro's word.

A flow of medical supplies to Miami has begun, presumably to be swapped for the prisoners it was learned in New York.

Trans World Airlines said one of its planes, under charter, Monday night flew 32,000 pounds of medicine to Miami from Idlewild Airport.

It said that between now and Friday, 28,000 pounds will be flown from St. Louis, Mo., and 19,000 pounds from Los Angeles, bound for Miami.

The airline said the shipments were ordered by the Air Transport Association, a private organization of aviation industry executives.

In Miami, relatives of the prisoners waited hopefully for Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro to say when and if he will accept food and medicine for their freedom.

The S. S. African Pilot, 435-foot freighter designated by the International Red Cross as the vessel to deliver the ransom to Cuba, headed south from Baltimore and is due at Port Everglades, 30 miles north of Miami, Wednesday. The Red Cross has assumed sponsorship of the exchange.

If Castro and the negotiators agree, the ship will be loaded with food and medicine stockpiled at Miami.

Plans call for Pan American World Airways jets to fly to Havana to pick up the prisoners. The ship will be in port or at sea headed for Cuba when the planes take off from Havana.

Castro has demanded $62 million worth of food and medical supplies or equipment in exchange for the prisoners.

The dollar figure is supposed to represent Havana prices and in the United States is estimated to be worth $13 million at wholesale.

Ray Adiel, president of the Empress of Bahamas Travel Service, said in Miami that the Red Cross had accepted an offer to use without charge the 1,300-passenger liner Empress of Bahamas to ferry the prisoners.

The ship was tied up at Miami in a court battle between her German owners and holders of the charter rights to the vessel.

In Washington, the Red Cross said office of the Empress of Bahamas was under consideration pending the outcome of final negotiations over terms of the prisoners' release.

Call Frank Carnevale And 4 Fellows Answer

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — It probably was confusing Monday for any guest at the Carnevale birthday party Monday who was not either a member of the family or a close friend.

The special guests were Frank Carnevale, Frank Carnevale, Frank Carnevale and Frank Carnevale.

Specifically Frank Carnevale was celebrating his 90th birthday, and his great-grandson, Frank, was celebrating his first. Also attending as special guests were the elder Carnevale's son, Frank and grandson, Frank.

Kennedy . . .

pus to protect Negro James H. Meredith.

The interview was filmed Sunday afternoon in Kennedy's oval office at the White House. It lasted 90 minutes and then was condensed to 60 by the networks.

The President and the reporters dug into a broad field of subjects in leisurely fashion. They turned up some nuggets of new information but none of really startling proportions.

In the process, Kennedy: Contended the air-to-ground Skybolt missile, a focal point of controversy with Britain, wouldn't provide "$2.5 billion worth of national security." The $2.5 billion is the estimated cost of perfecting the weapon.

Disclosed that "we are going to wait for a further period of investigation" before putting into production the Nike Zeus system of anti-missile missiles. It would cost more billions.

Again called on "rich Western Europe" to do its part in bearing the burdens of defense of the free world while relying on the United States arsenal for nuclear weapons.

Figured that as a result of the Nov. 6 election, the House is "slightly against us more than it was." He emphasized "slightly," and added: "We are not in quite as good shape as we were the last two years." The Democrats lost four seats and the Republicans gained two in a House whose total membership decreased from 437 to 435.

One thing Kennedy has found out at the White House:

The problems, the nation's responsibilities in an uneasy world, the limitations on "our ability to bring about a favorable result" are greater than he had imagined they would be.

"It is," he said a bit wistfully, "much easier to make the speeches than it is to finally make the judgments."

Sometimes, Kennedy conceded, his decisions have been wrong. He was wrong, he said, in the Cuban invasion fiasco of last year—but right in clamping a naval blockade around Fidel Castro's island in October.

Youngstown Racketeer Files Appeal

YOUNGSTOWN Ohio (AP) — Sentenced to 1-10 years in prison on gambling and stolen property charges, Joseph (Joey) Naples was free on bond today pending an appeal.

Common Pleas Court Judge John Ford denied Naples' probation request Monday and sentenced him to 1-7 years for receiving stolen property and 1-10 years for promoting a gambling game. The judge specified the sentences were to be served concurrently.

Naples, a 30-year-old Youngstown rackets figure, was convicted of the charges by two separate juries. The jury in a third trial cleared him of a charge of illegal possession of a submachine gun.

The three charges stemmed from a police raid on Naples' North Side home last July. Detectives said they found numbers slips, adding machines and stolen guns in a secret room in the basement.

Naples' older brother, Sandy, was shot to death in gangland fashion in 1960. Another brother, William (Billy) Naples, was slain last July when he started a bomb-rigged automobile.

Caroline, JFK Jr. Get To See Santa

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy's youngsters, like millions of other American children, have been to see a department store Santa Claus in time to place their Christmas orders.

First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy lost no time—on arriving in chilly Florida—in setting out on the excursion with her children.

She passed up the glitter of Palm Beach's more exclusive toy stores and took Caroline, 5, and 2-year-old John F. Jr., to see a department store toyland and a Santa in nearby West Palm Beach.

Mrs. Kennedy and her children spent two hours in Burdine's late Saturday afternoon. Caroline sat on Santa's lap, but John preferred to look on from a distance.

What they ordered remains Santa's secret. Caroline sat on Santa's lap in his specially decorated headquarters on the third floor. They rode an escalator to get there, with Mrs. Kennedy holding John Jr. on her hip.

They acted just about like any other youngsters with a department store Santa. Both got a red, white and blue striped souvenir balloon and a colorful comic book entitled "Space Man Discovers Christmas."

Cincy Dem Boss Rapped By Colleagues

CINCINNATI (AP)—Opponents of John A. Wiethe, Hamilton County Democratic Party chairman, are accusing him of criticizing Cincinnati's city manager form of government in an effort to hide his own shortcomings.

Wiethe told the party executive committee Saturday that Cincinnati was 10 years behind the times because it operates with that type of government.

Three Democratic councilmen, John J. Gilligan, Thomas C. Spraul and Phil C. Collins, declared in a joint statement Monday that a return to the "strong mayor" system would bring back old-type political bosses.

"This we could not in good faith countenance," the councilmen said.

The obvious motive for Mr. Wiethe's preposterous suggestion is to distract the attention of local Democrats from his unbroken record of failures as a political leader in Hamilton County," they asserted.

Hamilton County Democrats fared no better than their fellows elsewhere in Ohio in last month's general elections. Only one of 12 Democratic candidates for the Ohio House of Representatives won, and Republicans kept both Hamilton County seats in the U. S. Congress.

The Democrats' defeat has caused some criticism of William L. Coleman, Ohio Democratic chairman, and Wiethe has been mentioned as a possible successor. The three councilmen have opposed Wiethe before.

Amish Suit Dismissal Bid Studied

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A hearing on a government motion to dismiss an Amish couple's suit for Social Security tax exemption has been continued until next February, the U.S. attorney's office said.

Asst. Atty. David G. Hill said Judge Rabe F. Marsh of U.S. District Court granted the continuance for 50 days at the request of Shepard Koele of New York, attorney for Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Y. Byler of New Wilmington R.D. 1.

Judge Marsh will set a new date later. At the same time, Koele filed a cross-motion for summary judgment, which permits him to submit more evidence to support the Amish contention that they cannot accept insurance benefits.

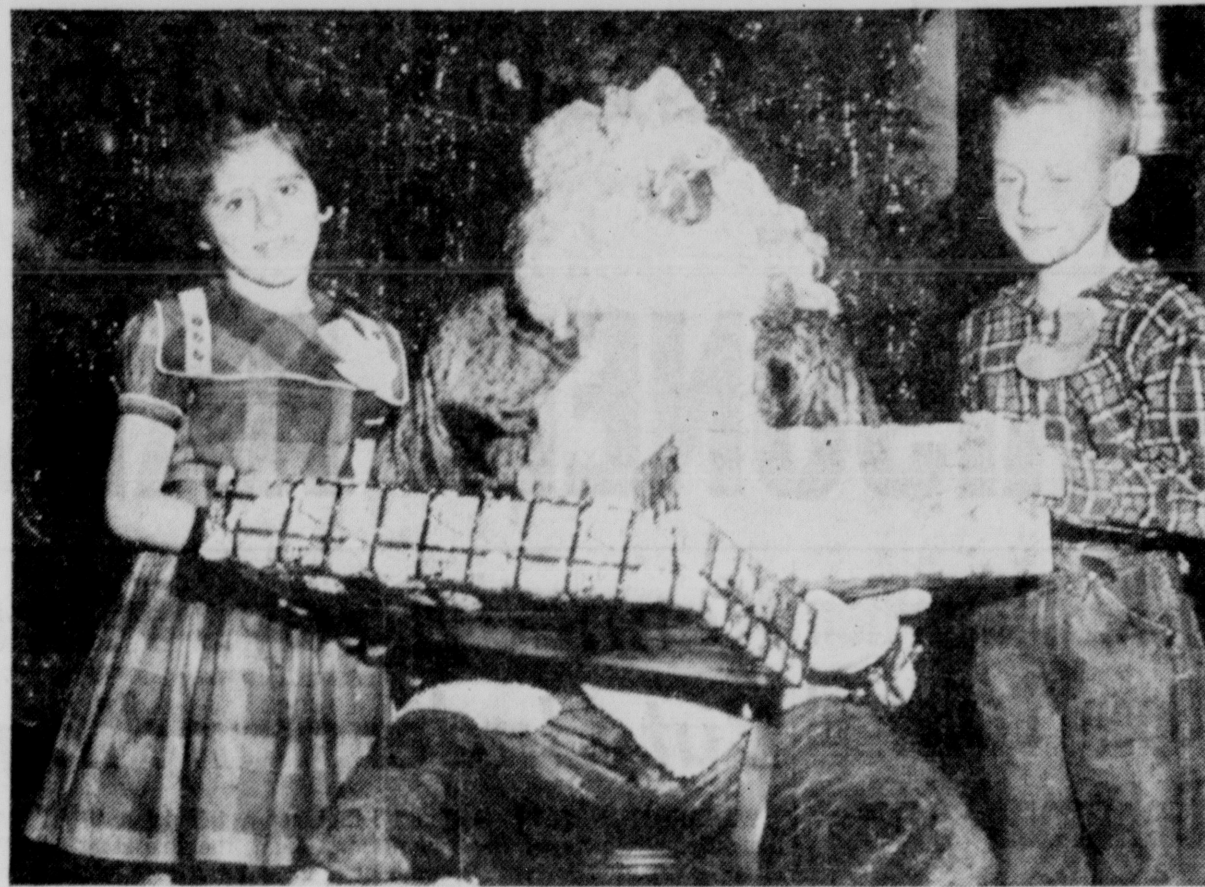

The Internal Revenue Service seized three plow horses in May 1961 from the Bylers for nonpayment of Social Security taxes and interest. Besides exemption taxes, for the horses.

Racing Driver To Speak at High School

Don Freeland, nationally-known race driver and eight-time competitor in the Indianapolis "500" will conduct a safe driving program for students at Circleville High School tomorrow.

Freeland and seven other race drivers are members of the Champion Highway Safety Program, an award-winning public service effort of the Champion Spark Plug Co. He is being brought here through the sponsorship of Clifton Auto Parts.

Educators and law enforcement authorities have praised these driver-lecturers for their hard-hitting and dynamic approach to the serious problem of highway accidents.

ious problem of highway accidents.

DON FREELAND

A further testament to their success may be seen in the fact that the program has been viewed by about three-million students in 48 states and by our armed forces both in the United States and abroad.

Freeland said: "In our talks to students we emphasize the point that no professional driver ever takes unnecessary risks. Sure, we drive fast, but only on race tracks and only after every safety precaution has been taken."

"All race drivers know that to abandon a safety-conscious attitude behind the wheel is to invite tragedy. This is even more true for the highway motorist who must contend with pedestrians, intersections, on - coming traffic and a number of other factors."

Freeland has ranked in the top 10 of the national standings three times and has finished in the first 10 of the Indianapolis "500" mile race three times. All told, his racing career spans 15 years.

Racing Driver To Speak at High School

Don Freeland, nationally-known race driver and eight-time competitor in the Indianapolis "500" will conduct a safe driving program for students at Circleville High School tomorrow.

Freeland and seven other race drivers are members of the Champion Highway Safety Program, an award-winning public service effort of the Champion Spark Plug Co. He is being brought here through the sponsorship of Clifton Auto Parts.

Educators and law enforcement authorities have praised these driver-lecturers for their hard-hitting and dynamic approach to the serious problem of highway accidents.

DON FREELAND

A further testament to their success may be seen in the fact that the program has been viewed by about three-million students in 48 states and by our armed forces both in the United States and abroad.

Freeland said: "In our talks to students we emphasize the point that no professional driver ever takes unnecessary risks. Sure, we drive fast, but only on race tracks and only after every safety precaution has been taken."

"All race drivers know that to abandon a safety-conscious attitude behind the wheel is to invite tragedy. This is even more true for the highway motorist who must contend with pedestrians, intersections, on - coming traffic and a number of other factors."

Freeland has ranked in the top 10 of the national standings three times and has finished in the first 10 of the Indianapolis "500" mile race three times. All told, his racing career spans 15 years.

Farm Bureau Conducts Its Captains Rally

The Pickaway County Farm Bureau, setting its sights on the 1963 membership drive, conducted a "Captains Rally" last night at the offices on E. Main St.

The drive will begin Jan. 21. The goal this year is 611 members.

Township captains gathered to hear the overall membership plan as it was outlined by Ed Johnson, Tri-County organization director. The captains were given folders with numerous instruction sheets. Listed were the overall membership calendar, captains' duties and detailed membership plans.

JOHNSON reminded that the only way to achieve the 1963 goal is for the captains to obtain as many workers as possible. Each captain received a Farm Bureau membership list from which to draw helpers. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

Mental Hospitals Battle To Salvage Human Beings

EDITOR'S NOTE—Just 15 years ago, the average mental hospital was hopelessly ill equipped to treat the patients crammed within its walls. Today, more effort than ever before is being directed toward better care with sometimes dramatic results. Here, in the second of five special stories, is a report on the continuing struggle to rehabilitate the mentally ill.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—At age 64, John C. came home after 23 desolate years in a state mental hospital. He is one of thousands salvaged from back wards of mental hospitals.

Fourteen years ago, he was another inmate in a hospital with 1,850 patients, and only two doctors. To feed, clothe, house and "treat" each of them, the hospital spent $1.06 a day. In some other hospitals the expenditure was as little as 43 cents a day.

Then an aroused state acted, providing more psychiatrists, nurses and psychiatric aides, things to do, new stimulation, to win the sick back to health. With intensive treatment, John C. recovered.

Today that same hospital spends about $11 daily per patient and has only half as many patients. There, and in other of the nation's best mental hospitals, 70 to 85 per cent of patients to home within three months to a year after admission. And this same hospital now spends only half as much, for total treatment, for every patient who recovers, due to the shorter stay.

The dolorous rub is that only 20 per cent of patients in all the nation's mental hospitals get the benefits of such effective treatment.

This includes drugs and intensive psychotherapy, the psychiatrist's way of listening and talking to and encouraging patients, such as John C., "until finally a light goes on in their minds and they understand what they were doing to themselves," as Dr. William Menninger expresses it.

Still today in state mental hospitals, only half of all patients are getting anything more than custodial care—bed and board. As a national average, mental hospitals spend only $5 daily per patient, as against $34.90 daily in a general hospital for the person ill with a physical complaint.

Another idea is spreading — strike away the locks and bars in mental hospitals.

Coming along rapidly is a new concept of community psychiatry, from Dec. 19 through Jan. 4 if they are parked in accordance with other regulations.

says Philip E. Ryan, executive director of the National Association for Mental Health.

In this, the emphasis is to get the patient over the acute stage of illness by hospital treatment, then send him home to finish his recovery, much like the patient with a heart attack or tuberculosis.

Only about one-fifth of the nation's general hospitals as yet have such psychiatric units. Last year, general hospitals cared for about 350,000 of the emotionally ill.

There are other helping hands. Hospitals and communities now operate nearly 1,500 psychiatric outpatient clinics, assisting half a million persons last year.

In some communities, emotionally sick children from broken homes are finding foster homes, for affection and normal experiences while being treated at mental health clinics.

Recovery from mental illness is one thing. But people can slip back if they cannot find jobs, are shunned by friends, or return to bad home situations and old problems.

New and well-established community facilities are tackling these problems.

Formerly, about one-third of patients discharged from mental hospitals relapsed and had to go back within a year.

Pilot programs stressing total rehabilitation through multiple services indicate this recurrence have long waiting lists. Most hospitals are under-staffed. There are few clinics for children.

The battle for mental health costs money. Fifteen states by law now share with cities and communities the costs of expanding mental health facilities. The latest budget of the institute allocates $4,200,000 for matching grants with states to plan comprehensive mental health plans. Last year, federal, state and local agencies spent $91 millions for community mental health programs.

It marks a beginning toward reducing staggering costs in human suffering.

Twist in Relations

Add to the list of international problems (already lengthy) that of "bootleg dancing" in Viet Nam.

Viet Nam is a country where dancing is prohibited. But this does not discourage the Americans, of whom there are quite a few in Viet Nam these troubled times. They go right ahead dancing in private homes behind closed doors and drawn shades. Hence the term "bootleg" dancing.

One cannot get too excited over this. The anti-dancing ban is screwy at best. But the other day part of the official American party in Saigon invited officials of the security police to a reception and danced right before their eyes.

Good Lesson Was Learned

One of the most interesting stories in the East-West cold war arena centers on the African nation of Guinea. It is a story that needs to be told again and again, with emphasis on the lesson it teaches for newly independent countries.

Guinea, under the determined leadership of Sekou Toure, was the first African colony of France to break all ties with the mother country. Now, marked by the departure of a French economic mission from Paris for Conakry at Toure's request, Guinea is retracing its steps.

Immediately after Guinea was cut loose from France, the African nation went into a frenzy that has become familiar elsewhere. She tried to eradicate all traces of colonialism by eliminating even the French language in schools.

The Soviet Union promised economic

This attracted the attention and ire of Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, first lady of the land, sister-in-law of President Ngo Dinh Diem and an influential force in Viet Nam. She made it plain she thought the incident in poor taste. Thus an international crisis of minor proportions results.

The official American party in Saigon knew of the county's peculiar customs. But the members of the unit are stuck there and seemed to see no reason why they should not go on living. Perhaps when Washington sends money and personnel to save Viet Nam in the future, it should make it plain that no-dancing edicts, etc., will not be observed by Americans.

aid. But although Soviet technicians arrived in overbearing numbers and mien, little economic help did. Further, the Soviet ambassador interfered with Guinea's government and finally had to be ordered back to Moscow.

The final blow was when the Kremlin tried to force Guinea to let the Russians establish a secret naval base that would have dominated the South Atlantic maritime routes. This would have put Guinea, which needs nothing as much as time for peaceful development, right in the middle of the East-West struggle.

But the important lesson is that which was learned by militant African nationalists, of which Tour was an example. They discovered that they could not accept communist help without submitting to communist political control.

Careful Driving Pays

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

It costs the average car owner about 12 cents a mile to operate his auto, but careful driving can cut this almost in half.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—The cold figures stay all but frozen but business confidence is warming up notably.

The statistics show industrial output at the same record level for four months now, and total production of goods and services all but unchanged. The more personal figures—employment, individual incomes and consumption, saving and spending—hold at their high level. But they don't rise as many would like to see.

Still business sentiment has improved in recent weeks. And so have the forecasts for the coming year.

Belief that the economy would turn up rather than down showed up first in the stock market. Rising prices represented many things—belief that the Cuban crisis held promise of better days on the international political scene; prospect of more spending for defense, nonetheless; interpretation of administration tax cutting and spending plans as meaning a larger federal deficit and perhaps another round of inflation; and the expectation that both the consumer and the businessman would loosen their purse strings, with the Cuban war scare out of the way. Rising stock prices bolstered confidence generally. But the same factors back of the market

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

FOR MANY YEARS, sessions of the Dutch Treat Club in New York were enlivened by the sallies of the perennial chairman, Clarence Budington Kelland. At one luncheon he remarked, "I know that the duty of a master of ceremonies is to be so confidently dull that the speakers he subsequently introduces will be dazzlingly brilliant by contrast." The speakers of the day chuckled heartily.

"I've looked over the list of our speakers for today, however," he continued sadly, "and I don't think I can do it." The audience roared. The speakers did not.

There is a fable about a very wise old man who was visited by a delegation of malcontents determined to tell him their troubles.

Suggested the wise man, "Write down your greatest trouble on a piece of paper." He then threw all the papers into a pot and said, "Now each of you draw a paper and by all the laws of probability you will have brand-new troubles to fret over."

The malcontents followed his suggestion. Then they read the new troubles they had been saddled with. The result: every single one of them clamored immediately to have their own trouble back!

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.

At what age does change of life begin? Should it make you light-headed?

Change of life usually begins in the late forties. It's natural health protection. Otherwise, at 75 you might still be rushing off for weekly prenatal check-ups or worrying about that 2 a. m. bottle!

And so an internal clock mechanism gradually turns off both ovaries. Egg cell production grinds to a halt. Menstrual flow grows irregular, scanty and finally stops.

The pituitary gland floods your system with chemicals that usually whip up egg cell production. The pituitary doesn't know that the ovaries have shut down.

This flood of pituitary chemicals irritates automatic nerves that tense blood vessels into vessels beneath the skin, you feel hot. Rivulets of sweat drip down face and neck. Then this hot flush quickly fades.

Most hot flashes are too mild to need treatment. But severe flushes can jangle your nerves. Your heart flutters, hands and feet tingle and you feel light-headed. Tension mounts until you can't sleep.

Don't let the change make you blue. Losing the ability to have babies doesn't mean lost femininity.

You can still enjoy an active married life.

Many women are happier than ever without the worry of pregnancy or monthly menstrual cramps.

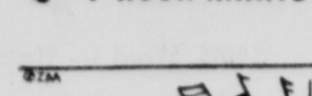

The change shouldn't last more than a year or so. Even though you're not troubled, you still need a twice-a-year checkup — more if you notice any unusual bleeding.

Hormone pills can control severe hot flushes. The pills restore the natural balance, postponing the change temporarily. Gradually your doctor tapers the dose, bringing on a second, milder change. You shouldn't take the pills indefinitely.

Don't believe those Old Wives' Tales that forecast change-of-life catastrophes. Ask any old wife who's been through the change. She knows!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Khrushchev the Pacifist

By George Sokolsky

EDITOR'S NOTE: George E. Sokolsky was working on a typical column just before he was fatally stricken Wednesday night. He had titled it "Khrushchev the Pacifist." Here it is:

When Khrushchev opposes war, he is pursuing the only policy which a strong man could. The Chinese Reds want Khrushchev to go to war with the United States. The Chinese Reds would not do the fighting. They would be onlookers to come in on the kill. Soviet Russia would be devastated; the United States would be devastated. Red China would not fight, but would take advantage of any Russian weakness. Of course Albania would not fight at all. It would quickly be absorbed in Yugoslavia and then forgotten.

There are those who still believe war is unthinkable, unbelievable, untenable. They claim that the military always shout for war in order to get higher appropriations. Often they have "inside information" that Russia will never make war upon the United States. It is obvious to those who are working on the problem every day that the pressure on Khrushchev to make war is as great as the pressure was on President Kennedy to bomb Cuba. There can no longer be any question but that a strong movement has developed within the Communist world to oust Khrushchev from leadership on the ground that he has become "the running dog" of Western capitalism.

Thus far, Khrushchev has been able to hold out and is fighting hard to avoid a war. Should Khrushchev be ousted, the power of Mao Tze-tung in the Communist world will be paramount and there will be war upon us as Mao has been making war on his good ally, India. When Khrushchev calls his own allies war-mongers, he is using a correct term. There can be no mistake about that, but look what Hitler did to the world in the moment of his greatest frenzy.

The United States has to be prepared to the hilt at any cost for the alternative may be destruction. It is possible that the policies of Khrushchev may triumph in a tense situation involving such an opponent as Mao Tze-tung.

There are those who say that everything that has been done about Cuba has been wrong. But they decline to accept war as the alternative to negotiation. The Russians will not fight with the United States. They will not fight with the Russians could not fight; that they did not know how to build the hardware for a hard punch. They have dropped that basis. Now they say, what good would it do the Russians to fight?

Politicians do always operate on the assumption that their immediate acts must always serve the country; sometimes, they take steps to keep themselves in power. During the past three months, that was one of Khrushchev's principal tasks, to keep himself in power, to avoid having the leadership of the Communist world taken over by Mao Tze-tung, the madman. In fact, there is every evidence that at the moment, Khrushchev finds more delight in Europe than in Asia. It will be a surprise to no one if the United States and Soviet Russia solve the Berlin and Indian problem together and then ask the Western world's endorsement of what they have done.

The immediate task is to get off the brink. When countries discuss whether they should use the telephone or teletype to get the quick decisions, they are close to missing a heart beat. That was true in November 1962; it may be true again, any time. Both nations must be poised for war as long as they have not discovered a formula for peace.

(At this point Mr. Sokolsky laid down his pen to talk with a friend on the telephone. He was stricken during that conversation. Shortly after, Mr. Richard E. Berlis, president of the Hearst Corporation, calling on Mrs. Sokolsky, found the manuscript on Mr. Sokolsky's desk with Sok's glasses on top of the pages. Like a good newspaperman he delivered the copy to King Features.)

Twist in Relations

Add to the list of international problems (already lengthy) that of "bootleg dancing" in Viet Nam.

Viet Nam is a country where dancing is prohibited. But this does not discourage the Americans, of whom there are quite a few in Viet Nam these troubled times. They go right ahead dancing in private homes behind closed doors and drawn shades. Hence the term "bootleg" dancing.

One cannot get too excited over this. The anti-dancing ban is screwy at best. But the other day part of the official American party in Saigon invited officials of the security police to a reception and danced right before their eyes.

Good Lesson Was Learned

One of the most interesting stories in the East-West cold war arena centers on the African nation of Guinea. It is a story that needs to be told again and again, with emphasis on the lesson it teaches for newly independent countries.

Guinea, under the determined leadership of Sekou Toure, was the first African colony of France to break all ties with the mother country. Now, marked by the departure of a French economic mission from Paris for Conakry at Toure's request, Guinea is retracing its steps.

Immediately after Guinea was cut loose from France, the African nation went into a frenzy that has become familiar elsewhere. She tried to eradicate all traces of colonialism by eliminating even the French language in schools.

The Soviet Union promised economic

This attracted the attention and ire of Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, first lady of the land, sister-in-law of President Ngo Dinh Diem and an influential force in Viet Nam. She made it plain she thought the incident in poor taste. Thus an international crisis of minor proportions results.

The official American party in Saigon knew of the country's peculiar customs. But the members of the unit are stuck there and seemed to see no reason why they should not go on living. Perhaps when Washington sends money and personnel to save Viet Nam in the future, it should make it plain that no-dancing edicts, etc., will not be observed by Americans.

Careful Driving Pays

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

It costs the average car owner about 12 cents a mile to operate his auto, but careful driving can cut this almost in half.

Alias Santa Claus—in Britain he's "Father Christmas," in France "Pere Noel," and in Russia "Father Frost."

"The follies which a man regrets most in his life are those which he didn't commit when he had the opportunity"—Helen Rowland.

Don't gossip—it may cause tooth decay. The British Dental Association reports that an open mouth exposes teeth to erosion from elements in the air.

The expression "haywire" comes from logging camps, where wires that bound hay bales were used for all sorts of purposes. When removed from the hay, they became all mixed up—and the term later began to mean just that.

It was hard work being a bride in the last century. A girl's trousseau often contained 100 garments—and she made most of them herself.

The Internal Revenue Service reports there are only 139 persons who report incomes of a million dollars a year or more.

Three-fourths of Americans have never ridden in an airplane. An octopus has three hearts. Paris has one bar for every 45 men. The average person has three head colds a year. No two zebras have exactly the same stripe pattern. A very loud noise can make you dizzy.

It was President Theodore Roosevelt who observed, "I think there is only one quality worse than hardness of heart and that is softness of head."

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — The cold figures stay all but frozen but business confidence is warming up notably.

The statistics show industrial output at the same record level for four months now, and total production of goods and services all but unchanged. The more personal figures—employment, individual incomes and consumption, saving and spending—hold at their high level. But they don't rise as many would like to see.

Still business sentiment has improved in recent weeks. And so have the forecasts for the coming year.

Belief that the economy would turn up rather than down showed up first in the stock market. Rising prices represented many things—belief that the Cuban crisis held promise of better days on the international political scene; prospect of more spending for defense; nonetheless, interpretation of administration tax cutting and spending plans as meaning a larger federal deficit and perhaps another round of inflation; and the expectation that both the consumer and the businessman would loosen their purse strings, with the Cuban war scare out of the way.

Rising stock prices bolstered confidence generally. But the same factors back of the market boom made many businessmen decide that 1963 was less likely to see a downturn in the economy than they had thought a few weeks back.

Those who still look for an easing in the business pace in the early weeks of the new year now expect it to be along normal seasonal lines, with an upswing to follow. Only a few nay-sayers still expect a recession by midyear.

Much of the new confidence is based on the belief that the administration and the Congress will work out some form of tax relief—and reasonably early in the upcoming session.

A cut in the corporate income tax rate would give companies more net income to spend—for new equipment or for bigger dividends.

Lower rates on personal incomes would give individuals more money to spend—to the benefit of business—or more money to save, thus building up institutional funds that business can tap when it wants to borrow.

So, at the end of this year, business is looking ahead to another year of at least modest growth—far better than the recession many feared after the stock market break at the end of May.

A Denver housewife has been married to and divorced from the same husband four times. Well, they do say it's a woman's prerogative to change her mind!

The Norwich, England, Public Library announces it has just received 300 overdue volumes from a single book borrower. What happened—did the fellow get a TV set?

A superstitious resident of Edmonton, Canada, walking around instead of under a ladder, was slightly hurt when hit by a falling workman. Getting so, one can't believe in anything these days.

The Red Chinese have just issued their 221st air intrusion warning to the U.S., we read. Must be a habit they find hard to break!

Zadok Dumpkopf claims he knows an Indian chief so thoroughly modernized he wears an electric blanket.

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo

BY LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER 14

READY FOR THE QUEEN

Santa was so cool and calm that Mr. Shnoo forgot his fright and even the monkeys seemed unafraid. They climbed on the backs of the reindeer and clung to the branches of the great antlers with their tails. When they were all on, Mr. Shnoo found a place on Horace's head. Then Santa gave the signal and away they flew.

Up, up and over the flames they went and oh, how the people below cheered and carried on to see them safe at last! Just for fun, the deer zoomed far up into the sky and, wild with freedom, and the wonder of it all, they swooped up and down playing hide and seek in the clouds. They played leap frog and somersaulted over the moon and did swan dives through the stars. On and on they went, surging round and round the whole great sky.

The monkeys clung to the antlers and Mr. Shnoo fastened his legs around Horace's chin. They had a ride they would never forget.

"I want payment BEFORE the Queen's visit."

At last it was over. The reindeer glided gently back to their reindeer pasture. But the monkeys had not had enough. They jumped up and down and beat their hands together and jabbered furiously. It was clear they wanted another ride.

But Mr. Shnoo said, no, they'd had enough but since they liked the reindeer so much they could stay in the reindeer stables until new cages were built. The old monkey house had burned to the ground.

By now it was daylight. Santa and Mr. Shnoo went off to Mr. Shnoo's office for breakfast which they cooked on a little stove Mr. Shnoo kept by his desk. While they were eating Crookshank came in.

He said, "What with the fire and all, the zoo is in very bad shape. Perhaps you had better call off the Queen's inspection."

"Not at all," said Mr. Shnoo. "The monkeys are fine in the reindeer stables and the Queen will find everything else in good condition—providing, of course, it stays that way."

"I want to remind you that my money is due me tomorrow," said Crookshank. "If you fail to make it the zoo becomes mine."

"Yes, said Mr. Shnoo, sipping his coffee.

"I want payment before the Queen's visit," said Crookshank. "After the Queen's visit," corrected Mr. Shnoo. "I have until sundown according to the agreement."

"Hump!" said Crookshank and he banged out of the office. "I do not trust that fellow," said Santa.

"He is an unpleasant one," agreed Mr. Shnoo. "I shall be glad when I have paid him off and the zoo is mine. Oh, the things I shall do with it!"

He lay back in his chair and dreamed again his wonderful dreams for the zoo.

1962 Inheritance Taxes Show Increase

Inheritance taxes collected in Pickaway County in 1962 were $102,595, according to a tabulation of tax settlements filed with state auditor James Rhodes. The county figure in 1961 was $56,056.

One-half of inheritance taxes go to the municipality or township where it originated. The other half is paid into the state's general revenue fund after deducting the fees allowed the offices of the county auditor and the county treasurer.

Pope Names Special Panel To Coordinate Council Work

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XIII named members of a special commission today to coordinate redrafting of proposals before the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council.

When the council began a nine-month recess Dec. 8, the Pope told its 12 drafting commissions to use the recess to condense and consolidated proposals.

Foreign Affairs Academy Urged

Kennedy OKs Idea Offered by Advisers

WASHINGTON (AP)—A presidential advisory panel recommended Monday establishment of a National Academy of Foreign Affairs. President Kennedy promptly endorsed the idea.

The panel is headed by James A. Perkins, vice president of the Carnegie Corp. of New York.

It said a new institution should be formed to provide leadership for the training, education and research needs of this country's foreign operations.

Kennedy said he shared the panel's belief that training and educational programs have not kept pace with the profound changes that have taken place in the conduct of foreign affairs.

Kennedy said he will recommend legislation to the next session of Congress to carry out the recommendation.

The panel recommended that the academy be located in the Washington area, with the secretary of state as chairman of a governing board of regents. The board also would include four other government officials, as well as public members. There would be a full-time chancellor.

The panel in addition to Perkins included Col. George A. Lincoln, professor of social sciences, U.S. Military Academy; John W. Masland, provost, Dartmouth College; Max F. Millikan, director, center for International Studies, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and Don K. Price, dean, Graduate School of Public Administration, Harvard University.

He said a special commission would coordinate the work of the 12 commissions. Today he named six cardinals and six prelates to this important coordinating body.

The nominees: Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York; Achille Cardinal Lienart, bishop of Lille, France; Julius Cardinal Döpfner, archbishop of Munich, Germany; Leo Jozef Cardinal Suenens, archbishop of Malines-Brussels, Belgium; Carlo Cardinal Confalonieri, secretary of the Consistorial Congregation, and Giovanni Cardinal Urbani, patriarch of Venice, Italy.

The six prelates are Archbishop Pericle Felici, secretary of the Vatican Ecumenical Council, and the five undersecretaries of the council.

The five undersecretaries are: Archbishop John Joseph Krol of Philadelphia, Pa.; Archbishop Pierre Veillot, auxiliary of Paris; Bishop Wilhelm Kempf of Limburg, Germany; Archbishop Casimiro Morcillo Gonzalez of Zaragoza, Spain; and Archbishop Philippe Nabaa of Beirut of the Melchites.

Vatican circles said all council elements—progressives, conservatives and moderates—appear to be represented.

The other council bodies will examine 70 projects, or theses, drafted by preconciliar committees.

Pope John has asked that these proposals be boiled down to 20.

Some prelates have said the council could last years, but the Pope has expressed the hope it would finish by Christmas 1963. It opened Oct. 11, and resumes its work next Sept. 8.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, in a sober and coldly realistic look at the world, paints no rosy picture about the days ahead.

In an hour-long interview with three reporters on television Monday night:

1. He gave American allies in Europe an almost brutal rebuke for not doing their share against communism.

2. He threw cold water on any summit meeting soon with Premier Khrushchev and on any idea it would do good if held soon.

3. He told those who think this country has borne too much of the world's burden too long: "We can't lay it down . . . in this century."

4. He expects "about as much tough going with Congress in 1963 as he had in 1962. In this year's election Democrats picked up four Senate seats, the Republicans two House seats.

5. He indicated none of the optimism which swept over some people here after Russia's backdown on Cuba. They seemed to see or sense big changes coming.

The Allied forces in NATO are supposed to be their first line of defense against a "communist attack. The American allies have been notoriously deficient in supplying their share of troops.

But this has generally been softened by the American government, apparently for fear of offending the West Europeans. The United States also has been shouldering the big bulk of aid to backward countries.

Kennedy pointed out the United States has six divisions in NATO, about a fourth of all the divisions on the Western front . . . They are the best equipped. They can fight tomorrow, which is not true of most of the other units.

"So we are doing our part there. And we are also providing the largest naval force in the world. We are also providing the nuclear force in the world, and we are also carrying out the major space program for the free world, as well as carrying the whole burden in South Vietnam."

He said the United States is more than doing its part and "we hope Western Europe will make a greater effort on its own, both in developing conventional forces and in assistance to the underdeveloped world."

This is as blunt as any president has talked to the Allies in public. Kennedy sounded like a man fed up with listening to excuses.

Last week Khrushchev made a fairly mild speech on Russian-American relations. Kennedy referred to this speech to say "we are better off with Khrushchev than with the (Red) Chinese."

But if anyone thought this meant Kennedy saw a new era coming, he quickly provided the disillusionment with this single sentence: "But Mr. Khrushchev does not wish us well, unfortunately."

And he added: "I don't think we are about to see a whole change in Communist policy . . ."

"Until we see some breakthrough in some one area I don't see there is much advantage in Mr. Khrushchev and I meeting, even though we have been in communication . . . I don't think there is a need for us to meet now. I think he probably feels the same way."

Origin of Christmas Discussed by MYF

The meaning of Christmas and the origin and significance of Christmas symbols was the discussion topic for the Junior High Methodist Youth Fellowship meeting held Sunday evening at the Pickaway St. Annex. Sue Bennett and Sue Barnhill led the discussion.

Howard Davies was in charge of the recreation period. Refreshments were served by Jeanelle West and Karen Lane.

Next Sunday evening the group will conduct a caroling party.

Local Group Elects Brown As President

Paul B. Brown, local insurance official, has been elected president of the Pickaway County Insurance Agents Assn.

Brown was named during a dinner meeting yesterday at Benny's Restaurant. Dale F. DeLong was elected vice president and Lewis E. Cook Jr., secretary-treasurer.

Secretary Cook, pointing out the purpose of individual insurance agents, said balancing insurance coverage for many needs for protection calls for professional skill.

He said the independent insurance agent is an expert in many kinds of insurance protection, and is free to place insurance with the best company, eliminate gaps in coverage and avoid costly over-insurance.

Cook said the results amount to sound insurance at a sensible cost, plus a capable agent to help at the time of a loss.

Reds Foil 10 of 11 Escape Tries

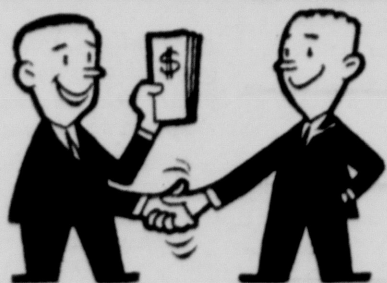

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Border guards of Communist East Germany manage to foil 10 attempted escapes for every successful flight through the walled and barbed wire border around West Berlin.

That was reported today by Bruno Krajewski, a former East German major who 10 days ago made a dramatic escape in an inflated rubber boat with his wife, 9-year-old daughter and two friends.

Krajewski, who had the job of investigating escapes and advising how to tighten the border, said most arrests were made in the controlled area behind the border.

"Relatively few people are caught on the barbed wire barricades themselves," he added. "Most people who get that far manage to get away."

He said chances of a successful escape are steadily dwindling. He discussed the border situation with newsmen at a news conference arranged by Western security authorities under whose protection he has been since his escape.

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo

BY LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER 14 READY FOR THE QUEEN

Santa was so cool and calm that Mr. Shnoo forgot his fright and even the monkeys seemed unafraid. They climbed on the backs of the reindeer and clung to their tails. When they were all on, Mr. Shnoo found a place on Horace's head. Then Santa gave the signal and away they flew.

Up, up and over the flames they went and oh, how the people below cheered and carried on to see them safe at last! Just for fun, the deer zoomed far up into the sky and, wild with freedom, and the wonder of it all, they swooped up and down playing hide and seek in the clouds. They played leap frog and somersaulted over the moon and did swan dives through the stars. On and on they went, surging round and round the whole great sky.

The monkeys clung to the antlers and Mr. Shnoo fastened his legs around Horace's chin. They had a ride they would never forget.

At last it was over. The reindeer glided gently back to their reindeer pasture. But the monkeys had not had enough. They jumped up and down and beat their hands together and jabbered furiously. It was clear they wanted another ride.

But Mr. Shnoo said, no, they'd had enough but since they liked the reindeer so much they could stay in the reindeer stables until new cages were built. The old monkey house had burned to the ground.

By now it was daylight. Santa and Mr. Shnoo went off to Mr. Shnoo's office for breakfast which they cooked on a little stove Mr. Shnoo kept by his desk. While they were eating Crookshank came in.

He said, "What with the fire and all, the zoo is in very bad shape. Perhaps you had better call off the Queen's inspection."

"Not at all," said Mr. Shnoo. "The monkeys are fine in the reindeer stables and the Queen will find everything else in good condition—providing, of course, it stays that way."

"I want to remind you that my money is due me tomorrow," said Crookshank. "If you fail to make it the zoo becomes mine."

"Yes," said Mr. Shnoo, sipping his coffee.

"I want payment before the Queen's visit," said Crookshank. "After the Queen's visit," corrected Mr. Shnoo. "I have until sundown according to the agreement."

"Hump!" said Crookshank and he banged out of the office. "I do not trust that fellow," said Santa.

"He is an unpleasant one," agreed Mr. Shnoo. "I shall be glad when I have paid him off and the zoo is mine. Oh, the things I shall do with it!"

He lay back in his chair and dreamed again his wonderful dreams for the zoo.

1962 Inheritance Taxes Show Increase

Inheritance taxes collected in Pickaway County in 1962 were $102,595, according to a tabulation of tax settlements filed with state auditor James Rhodes. The county figure in 1961 was $56,056.

One-half of inheritance taxes go to the municipality or township where it originated. The other half is paid into the state's general revenue fund after deducting the fees allowed the offices of the county auditor and the county treasurer.

He said chances of a successful escape are steadily dwindling. He discussed the border situation with newsmen at a news conference arranged by Western security authorities under whose protection he has been since his escape.

Pope Names Special Panel To Coordinate Council Work

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XIII named members of a special commission today to coordinate redrafting of proposals before the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council.

When the council began a nine-month recess Dec. 8, the Pope told its 12 drafting commissions to use the recess to condense and consolidate proposals.

Foreign Affairs Academy Urged

Kennedy OKs Idea Offered by Advisers

WASHINGTON (AP)—A presidential advisory panel recommended Monday establishment of a National Academy of Foreign Affairs. President Kennedy promptly endorsed the idea.

The panel is headed by James A. Perkins, vice president of the Carnegie Corp. of New York.

It said a new institution should be formed to provide leadership for the training, education and research needs of this country's foreign operations.

Kennedy said he shared the panel's belief that training and educational programs have not kept pace with the profound changes that have taken place in the conduct of foreign affairs.

Kennedy said he will recommend legislation to the next session of Congress to carry out the recommendation.

The panel recommended that the academy be located in the Washington area, with the secretary of state as chairman of a governing board of regents. The board also would include four other government officials, as well as public members. There would be a full-time chancellor.

The panel in addition to Perkins included Col. George A. Lincoln, professor of social sciences, U.S. Military Academy; John W. Masland, provost, Dartmouth College; Max F. Millikan, director, center for International Studies, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and Don K. Price, dean, Graduate School of Public Administration, Harvard University.

He said a special commission would coordinate the work of the 12 commissions. Today he named six cardinals and six prelates to this important coordinating body.

The nominees: Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York; Achille Cardinal Lienart, bishop of Lille, France; Julius Cardinal Döpfner, archbishop of Munich, Germany; Leo Jozef Cardinal Suensens, archbishop of Malines-Brussels, Belgium; Carlo Cardinal Confalonieri, secretary of the Consistorial Congregation, and Giovanni Cardinal Urbani, patriarch of Venice, Italy.

The six prelates are Archbishop Pericle Felici, secretary of the Vatican Ecumenical Council, and the five undersecretaries of the council.

The five undersecretaries are: Archbishop John Joseph Krol of Philadelphia, Pa.; Archbishop Pierre Veillot, auxiliary of Paris; Bishop Wilhelm Kempf of Limburg, Germany; Archbishop Casimiro Morello Gonzalez of Zaragoza, Spain; and Archbishop Philippe Nabaa of Beirut of the Melchites.

Vatican circles said all council elements — progressives, conservatives and moderates—appear to be represented.

The other council bodies will examine 70 projects, or theses, drafted by preconciliar committees.

Pope John has asked that these proposals be boiled down to 20. Some prelates have said the council could last years, but the Pope has expressed the hope it would finish by Christmas 1963. It opened Oct. 11, and resumes its work next Sept. 8.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, in a sober and coldly realistic look at the world, paints no rosy picture about the days ahead.

In an hour-long interview with three reporters on television Monday night:

1. He gave American allies in Europe an almost brutal rebuke for not doing their share against communism.

2. He threw cold water on any summit meeting soon with Premier Khrushchev and on any idea it would do good if held soon.

3. He told those who think this country has borne too much of the world's burden too long: "We can't lay it down... in this century."

4. He expects about as much tough going with Congress in 1963 as he had in 1962. In this year's election Democrats picked up four Senate seats, the Republicans two House seats.

5. He indicated none of the optimism which swept over some people here after Russia's backdown on Cuba. They seemed to see or sense big changes coming.

The Allied forces in NATO are supposed to be their first line of defense against a "communist attack. The American allies have been notoriously deficient in supplying their share of troops.

But this has generally been soft-pedaled by the American government, apparently for fear of offending the West Europeans. The United States also has been shouldering the big bulk of aid to backward countries.

Kennedy pointed out the United States has six divisions in NATO, about a fourth of all the divisions on the Western front... They are the best equipped. They can fight tomorrow, which is not true of most of the other units.

"So we are doing our part there. And we are also providing the largest naval force in the world. We are also providing the nuclear force in the world, and we are also carrying out the major space program for the free world, as well as carrying the whole burden in South Vietnam."

He said the United States is more than doing its part and "we hope Western Europe will make a greater effort on its own, both in developing conventional forces and in assistance to the underdeveloped world."

This is as blunt as any president has talked to the Allies in public. Kennedy sounded like a man fed up with listening to excuses.

Danger Signs Of Alcoholism Are Numerous

TORONTO (AP) — At the mention of a woman alcoholic, the image of a grubby, immoral and irresponsible woman springs to the mind of some people.

This is unfortunate because this stereotype prevents many women and their families from seeking help for their drinking problem, and often even admitting that there is a problem, says Margaret Cork, chief social worker at the Alcoholism and Drug Addiction Research Foundation in Toronto.

The woman alcoholic comes from every social economic and cultural background. She may be the middle class suburban housewife, the unmarried career girl or a criminal, but this is what so many people fail to understand.

"I often hear people say, 'My wife can't be an alcoholic because she brought up our children well and the grandchildren adore her,'" says Miss Cork.

Today the finger is often pointed at the suburban housewife but "Women in suburbia are really no different than women in other social environments who drink, such as the woman who drinks after her husband dies, or the woman who drinks after her children leave home." They are all sublimating their isolation, loneliness or other emotional problems by turning to alcohol.

Miss Cork describes the alcoholic as a person who uses alcohol consistently to the point where it begins to interfere with their marriage, their home and their work.

There are very few cases of alcoholism that do not have underlying emotional factors such as anxiety and discontent.

It is an "insidious thing which creeps up on the normal healthy person," she says because only between five and 10 per cent of alcoholics were pathologically ill when they began to use alcohol.

One of the first danger signs of alcoholism is a change in her ways of thinking.

She begins to think she needs a drink before she goes out, and decides whether or not she will attend a certain function on the basis of whether or not alcoholic beverages will be served.

Her social habits may also begin to change. She may wish to associate only with those who drink, look down on those who do not drink and begin to withdraw from the usual things of her life. Rationalization of drinking is another danger sign.

Because the woman alcoholic tries to hide her drinking from a scornful society, her alcoholism is quite advanced when she seeks help and added to her initial emotional upset are the feelings of shame, remorse, guilt and fear resulting from social rejection.

Often her illness will have progressed as long as 20 years before she will seek help, says Miss Cork.

There are many kinds of help a woman worried about her drinking can receive.

She should consult an unbiased professional person such as a marriage, family or mental health counsellor rather than her mother-in-law, her sister or a neighbor

DEAR ABBY: I have a different kind of mother-in-law problem. She isn't in my home five minutes when she drags out my vacuum sweeper, mop and dust cloth. Even when I explain that I have just given the place a thorough cleaning, she goes right ahead and pulls the house apart, moves the furniture and crawls under the beds looking for dirt. When I invite her for dinner she comes hours early and takes over the kitchen. I have had 14 years of homemaking experience and feel that I do a pretty good job. How can I let her know I do not need her help?

PC Medical Society Holds Annual Christmas Party

The annual Christmas Party given by the Pickaway County Medical Society for employees of Berger Hospital and office employees and nurses and local doctors was held at Tinks Tavern recently. Wives of the doctors were present.

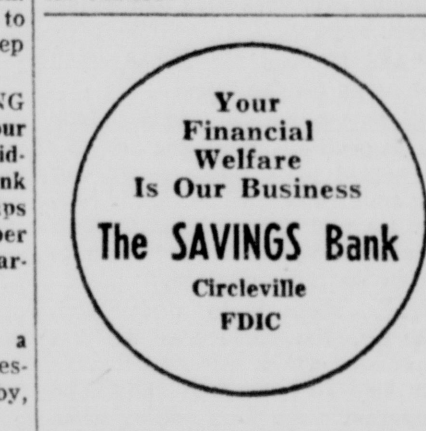

A modern decor consisting of a pink and silver color scheme was used. Miniature lamps encircled with evergreens and ornaments were centered on the tables and four kissing balls were suspended from the ceiling.

Mrs. Ruth Haddox presided at the punch bowl. Miss Karen Puhler gave the invocation and Dr. Carlos Alvarez greeted the guests. The response was given by Miss Daisy Karleskint.

A highlight of the evening was a skit entitled, "Fatal Quest" presented by Dr. E. L. Montgomery, Dr. J. M. Hedges, Miss Jane Badertscher, Mrs. Florence Valentine, Mrs. Lois Jones, Mrs. Maile Baldwin, Mrs. Mary Louise Rooney and Paul Roan.

money, its their privilege.

DEAR ABBY: A 16-year-old neighbor girl babysat for us last Saturday night. She asked me beforehand if her boy friend could keep her company while she sat, and I didn't see any reason why he shouldn't. When we go home (about midnight) it was pitch dark in the house and the girl and her visitor appeared very rumpled and disarranged. My husband said that we should not permit this girl to have company again while she sits for us. How can I refuse her if she asks again, without implying that I don't trust her?

THE LADY ON THE CORNER
DEAR CORNER: Whether she thinks you trust her is not as important as making sure that nothing regrettable happens in your home.

DEAR ABBY: I used to be a very heavy drinker. I had to have a shot of whiskey first thing in the morning so you know I was not exactly a "social drinker. I met a woman who said she would marry me if I quit drinking. I joined A. A. and haven't had a drop of whiskey since New Year's, 1961. Now this woman says she changed her mind and doesn't love me enough to marry me. I am ready to start drinking again. Do you think she has been fair to me, and how can I get her to keep her promise?

SOBER BUT WEAKENING
DEAR SOBER: Sobriety is your life-saver and this woman provided it. You owe her a lot, so thank her and say good-bye. Perhaps this is a test. If you stay sober through this crisis, she might marry you after all.

Danger Signs Of Alcoholism Are Numerous

TORONTO (AP) — At the mention of a woman alcoholic, the image of a grubby, immoral and irresponsible woman springs to the mind of some people.

This is unfortunate because this stereotype prevents many women and their families from seeking help for their drinking problem, and often even admitting that there is a problem, says Margaret Cork, chief social worker at the Alcoholism and Drug Addiction Research Foundation in Toronto.

The woman alcoholic comes from every social economic and cultural background. She may be the company president's wife, the middle class suburban housewife, the unmarried career girl or a criminal, but this is what so many people fail to understand.

"I often hear people say, 'My wife can't be an alcoholic because she brought up our children well and the grandchildren adore her,'" says Miss Cork.

Today the finger is often pointed at the suburban housewife but "Women in suburbia are really no different than women in other social environments who drink, such as the woman who drinks after her husband dies or the woman who drinks after her children leave home." They are all sublimating their isolation, loneliness or other emotional problems by turning to alcohol.

Miss Cork describes the alcoholic as a person who uses alcohol consistently to the point where it begins to interfere with their work, their home and their work.

There are very few cases of alcoholism that do not have underlying emotional factors such as anxiety and discontent.

It is an "insidious thing which creeps up on the normal healthy person," she says because only between five and 10 per cent of alcoholics were pathologically ill when they began to use alcohol.

One of the first danger signs of alcoholism is a change in her ways of thinking.

She begins to think she needs a drink before she goes out, and decides whether or not she will attend a certain function on the basis of whether or not alcoholic beverages will be served.

Her social habits may also begin to change. She may wish to associate only with those who drink, look down on those who do not drink and begin to withdraw from the usual things of her life. Rationalization of drinking is another danger sign.

Because the woman alcoholic tries to hide her drinking from a scornful society, her alcoholism is quite advanced when she seeks help and added to her initial emotional upset are the feelings of shame, remorse, guilt and fear resulting from social rejection.

Often her illness will have progressed as long as 20 years before she will seek help, says Miss Cork. There are many kinds of help a woman worried about her drinking can receive.

She should consult an unbiased professional person such as a marriage, family or mental health counsellor rather than her mother-in-law, her sister or a neighbor

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren

The Dust Is Flying!

DEAR ABBY: I have a different kind of mother-in-law problem. She isn't in my home five minutes when she drags out my vacuum sweeper, mop and dust cloth. Even when I explain that I have just given the place a thorough cleaning, she goes right ahead and pulls the house apart, moves the furniture and crawls under the beds looking for dirt. When I invite her for dinner she comes hours early and takes over the kitchen. I have had 14 years of homemaking experience and feel that I do a pretty good job. How can I let her know I do not need her help?

MAD
DEAR MAD: Your mother-in-law obviously hasn't enough to keep her busy at home and is merely flexing her domestic muscles at your place. Let her have a good time.

DEAR ABBY: Please set a couple of teenagers straight as my advice is not wanted. They go steady and have decided to spend from $50 to $100 on each other for Christmas. They both work. Their wages are small and what is left weekly is $10 or less.

MOM
DEAR MOM: I think they are spending too much on a single gift, but if they have earned the money, its their privilege.

DEAR ABBY: A 16-year-old neighbor girl babysat for us last Saturday night. She asked me beforehand if her boy friend could keep her company while she sat, and I didn't see any reason why he shouldn't. When we go home (about midnight) it was pitch dark in the house and the girl and her visitor appeared very rumpled and disarranged. My husband said that we should not permit this girl to have company again while she sits for us. How can I refuse her if she asks again, without implying that I don't trust her?

THE LADY ON THE CORNER
DEAR CORNER: Whether she thinks you trust her is not as important as making sure that nothing regrettable happens in your home.

DEAR ABBY: I used to be a very heavy drinker. I had to have a shot of whiskey first thing in the morning so you know I was not exactly a "social drinker. I met a woman who said she would marry me if I quit drinking. I joined A. A. and haven't had a drop of whiskey since New Year's, 1961. Now this woman says she changed her mind and doesn't love me enough to marry me. I am ready to start drinking again. Do you think she has been fair to me, and how can I get her to keep her promise?

SOBER BUT WEAKENING
DEAR SOBER: Sobriety is your life-saver and this woman provided it. You owe her a lot, so thank her and say good-bye. Perhaps this is a test. If you stay sober through this crisis, she might marry you after all.

Whats on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365 Beverly Hills, Calif.

GATOR BOWL: Penn State vs. Florida

LOSER of only one game this season, Penn State (9-1) takes on the University of Florida (6-4) in the Gator Bowl game at Jacksonville, Fla., December 29. Penn State is led by Roger Kochman, who gained 652 yards on the ground, and Pete Liske, the quarterback, who completed 91 of 162 for 1,037 yards and 12 touchdowns. Florida's top offensive thrust is Larry Dupree, who gained 619 yards, scored seven touchdowns. (Central Press)

Ohioans Leave for Florida To Tangle with Texas Crew

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — "This will be a match of Ohioans versus Texans. I'm sure the eyes of Texas will be on the Houston team, but I'm sure I have 41 athletes that are bigger than the eyes of Texas."

That is how Head Coach John Pont describes his Miami University Redskins who take off today for Orlando, Fla., and Saturday's Tangerine Bowl game against Houston.

It won't be the first football bowl appearance for the confident Redskins—who haven't had a losing season since 1942—nor for their coach, who was a halfback on the Miami team that trounced Arizona State 34-21 in the 1950 Salad Bowl. The Redskins won their first bowl game against Texas Tech in the 1947 Sun Bowl.

Pont, a fixture on the Miami campus for years, first came here in 1948 as a G.I. Bill student—one who played service football.

Pickaway Saddle, Bridle Club Enjoys Christmas Party

The Pickaway Saddle and Bridle Club Christmas party was held at the Edgewood Farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Poling Saturday evening.

Harold Hoffman presided at a business meeting during which plans for the coming year were discussed. The club will work with Kiwanis again this year on the horse show.

Reports were heard on a meeting of the Ohio Valley Horse Show Assn. Attending were Sterling Poling, Allen Ankrom, R. B. Anderson and Dr. F.P. Dunlap.

Cecil Rousch also reported on the procedure used in putting on a one session horse show at the Ross County Fair this year.

At the request of the Pickaway County Fair Board the club will present this information to the Board at its next meeting.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. G. A. Wylie, Mrs. C.K. Vaughan and Mrs. J.E. Groom.

Taylor Collects Pro Grid Laurels

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Taylor, the hard-hitting fullback of the Green Bay Packers, succeeded teammate Paul Hornung Sunday as the National Football League scoring champion, in a season that saw three point-making marks fall.

Taylor collected 114 points on 19 touchdowns, a league mark for TDs, and edged Lou Michaels of the Pittsburgh Steelers, who amassed 110 points on 26 field goals and 32 extra points.

Michaels' was a league record for kickers, replacing the 108 points compiled by Lou Groza of the Cleveland Browns in 1953. Actually, Michaels ran over one of his conversions when the pass from center was bobbled, but his 109 points with the toe is still a kicking mark.

The 26 field goals kicked by the big Steeler tackle was another record.

Jim Kaat of Minnesota hit 18 batters and made 13 wild pitches last season. But he had an 18-14 record and a 3.14 earned run mark.

Yule Holidays Lighten Week's Cage Schedule

and proceeded to set a career Redskins scoring record which lasted until this fall.

Some of his records still stand—most touchdowns as halfback (27), most rushing attempts (340 for 2,390 yards) and kickoff returns (33 for 874 yards).

When Pont graduated in 1952, he went to play professional ball with the Green Bay Packers and the Toronto Argonauts' farm club at Balmy Beach.

He didn't stay long. The pros thought he was too light. Next fall he was back as Miami's freshman coach and took over the varsity in 1956.

That first season the Redskins posted a 7-1-1 record. They did even better this year, finishing with an 8-1-1. Pont's record for the seven seasons is 43-21-2.

Associates attribute his success to being a tremendous competitor all week long and to the fatherly interest he takes in his players.

Pont, 35, says this is the best team he has coached here. It includes the man who broke his old career scoring record—end Bob Jencks.

Jencks, who tied a modern NCAA field goal career record this year, scored a total of 177 points in three seasons. Pont scored 162 points.

League schedules for the Circleville fifth and sixth grade basketball program started Saturday at the high school and Fairgrounds Coliseum.

At the Coliseum, John Maxwell's team downed Dave Smith's 9-1. Doug Roth's team edged Chet Irvey's 6-4 and Ron Seward's trounced Jim Price's 12-0.

At the high school Jack Martin's team jumped to a quick 6-2 lead and defeated Tom Smith's quintet, 8-2. Bob Diltz's team, leading all the way defeated Bob Waple's group, 6-2.

Each center has its own league. Competition is slated to begin at the Army this Saturday.

Paul Reiss, organizer of the program here, announced tentative plans for a tournament following league play.

Cincinnati drew 42 of the 44 first place votes in the weekly voting by sports writers and broadcasters on the AP panel. Duke got the other two.

The Bearcats (6-0) had 438 points of a possible 440, with Duke (6-0) drawing 349 points. The rest of the top five remained with 302 points, Chicago Loyola (4-0) fourth with 218 and Mississippi State (5-0) fifth with 213. Records include games through last Saturday.

Brown Satisfied At Losing Title

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jim Brown has been dethroned for the first time in six years as leading rusher in the National Football League, but the big fullback landed on top of another statistical column which is of no small importance to the Cleveland Browns.

He caught more passes than any other receiver on the team—47 for 519 yards. He scored 18 touchdowns, tying his previous high in 1958.

That is one reason why Brown feels he had a good season despite the sharp drop this year in his rushing yardage.

His 596 yards in 230 carries was the lowest for Brown since his rookie year in 1957, when he led the league with 942 yards. Last year Jim carried 305 times for 1,408 yards, and his best year in rushing was 1958, when he set the NFL season record of 1,527 yards.

PRESENT league standings find the Deers and Logan Elm tied for first with one win and no losses, Darby second with a 1-1 slate while Monroe and Jackson have 0-1 records.

In area games Friday The Plains of Mt. Sterling invades West Jefferson in a Darby Valley League contest, Kingston is at Central in a Ross County League tilt and Amanda-Clearcreek hosts Liberty Union in the Fairfield County league.

Saturday Laurelville will host the Plains of Athens County in the lone game on tap.

Purkey Is Tagged 'Pitcher of Year'

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bob Purkey, who compiled a 23-5 record with the Cincinnati Reds last season, will be honored as pitcher of the year at the annual Parade of Stars dinner Jan. 12.

The "pitcher of the year" award will be one of several given at the dinner sponsored by the Cincinnati chapter of the Baseball Writers of America and the Chamber of Commerce.

The Cleveland Browns placed six men on the Eastern squad, the St. Louis Cardinals' five, Pittsburgh, Dallas and Washington four each, and Philadelphia one.

Drysdale Data Show Why He Is Top Hurler

CINCINNATI (AP)—The several good reasons Don Drysdale was named winner of the Cy Young award as the major league's outstanding pitcher in 1962 are reflected today in the release of the official National League pitching records.

Drysdale, big Los Angeles Dodger right-hander, led the NL in five categories: Games won —25; strikeouts—232; innings pitched—314; games started—41 and total batsmen faced—1,289.

The Dodgers' workhorse finished fourth in earned run average with a 2.84. The ERA title was won by Drysdale's teammate, lefty Sandy Koufax, who compiled a 2.54 mark. Bob Shaw of Milwaukee was the runner-up at 2.80 and Cincinnati's Bob Purkey was third with 2.81.

Koufax yielded 52 earned runs in 184 innings while winning 14 games and losing seven. He was sidelined for two months with a finger injury.

GATOR BOWL: Penn State vs. Florida

LOSER of only one game this season, Penn State (9-1) takes on the University of Florida (6-4) in the Gator Bowl game at Jacksonville, Fla., December 29. Penn State is led by Roger Kochman, who gained 652 yards on the ground, and Pete Liske, the quarterback, who completed 91 of 162 for 1,037 yards and 12 touchdowns. Florida's top offensive thrust is Larry Dupree, who gained 619 yards, scored seven touchdowns. (Central Press)

Ohioans Leave for Florida To Tangle with Texas Crew

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — "This will be a match of Ohioans versus Texans. I'm sure the eyes of Texas will be on the Houston team, but I'm sure I have 41 athletes that are bigger than the eyes of Texas."

That is how Head Coach John Pont describes his Miami University Redskins who take off today for Orlando, Fla., and Saturday's Tangerine Bowl game against Houston.

It won't be the first football bowl appearance for the confident Redskins—who haven't had a losing season since 1942—nor for their coach, who was a halfback on the Miami team that trounced Arizona State 34-21 in the 1950 Salad Bowl. The Redskins won their first bowl game against Texas Tech in the 1947 Sun Bowl.

Pont, a fixture on the Miami campus for years, first came here in 1948 as a G.I. Bill student—one who played service football—and proceeded to set a career Redskins scoring record which lasted until this fall.

Some of his records still stand—most touchdowns as halfback (27), most rushing attempts (340 for 2,390 yards) and kickoff returns (33 for 874 yards).

When Pont graduated in 1952, he went to play professional ball with the Green Bay Packers and the Toronto Argonauts' farm club at Balmy Beach.

He didn't stay long. The pros thought he was too light. Next fall he was back as Miami's freshman coach and took over the varsity in 1956.

That first season the Redskins posted a 7-1 record. They did even better this year, finishing with an 8-1-1. Pont's record for the seven seasons is 43-21-2.

Associates attribute his success to being a tremendous competitor all week long and to the fatherly interest he takes in his players.

Pont, 35, says this is the best team he has coached here. It includes the man who broke his old career scoring record — end Bob Jencks.

Jencks, who tied a modern NCAA field goal career record this year, scored a total of 177 points in three seasons. Pont scored 162 points.

League schedules for the Circleville fifth and sixth grade basketball program started Saturday at the high school and Fairgrounds Coliseum.

At the Coliseum, John Maxwell's team downed Dave Smith's 9-1, Doug Roth's team edged Chet Irvey's 6-4 and Ron Seward's trounced Jim Price's 12-0.

At the high school Jack Martin's team jumped to a quick 6-2 lead and defeated Tom Smith's quintet, 8-2. Bob Diltz's team, leading all the way defeated Bob Waple's group, 6-2.

Each center has its own league. Competition is slated to begin at the Armory this Saturday.

Paul Reiss, organizer of the program here, announced tentative plans for a tournament following league play.

Yule Holidays Lighten Week's Cage Schedule

With the Christmas Holidays approaching, the high school basketball schedule for the week shifts to a lighter trend.

Laurelville and Darby kick off the week's cage activity with a game tonight on the Wildcats' floor. Laurelville is winless in four starts and the Trojans have two wins in six outings.

Thursday Williamsport and Logan Elm tangle in a Pickaway County league contest that will see the winner take over undisputed first place in the circuit.

The Braves, with a 3-0 record and the Deers, who have won six while losing three, are presently the most likely candidates to cop the league championship.

His 596 yards in 230 carries was the lowest for Brown since his rookie year in 1957, when he led the league with 942 yards. Last year Jim carried 305 times for 1,408 yards, and his best year in rushing was 1958, when he set the NFL season record of 1,527 yards.

PRESENT league standings find the Deers and Logan Elm tied for first with one win and no losses, Darby second with a 1-1 slate while Monroe and Jackson have 0-1 records.

In area games Friday The Plains of Mt. Sterling invades West Jefferson in a Darby Valley League contest, Kingston is at Centralia in a Ross County League tilt and Amanda-Clearcreek hosts Liberty Union in the Fairfield County league.

Saturday Laurelville will host the Plains of Athens County in the lone game on tap.

Taylor Collects Pro Grid Laurels

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Taylor, the hard-hitting fullback of the Green Bay Packers, succeeded teammate Paul Hornung Sunday as the National Football League scoring champion, in a season that saw three point-making marks fall.

Taylor collected 114 points on 19 touchdowns, a league mark for TDs, and edged Lou Michaels of the Pittsburgh Steelers, who amassed 110 points on 26 field goals and 32 extra points.

Michaels' was a league record for kickers, replacing the 108 points compiled by Lou Groza of the Cleveland Browns in 1953. Actually, Michaels ran over one of his conversions when the pass from center was bobbled, but his 109 points with the toe is still a kicking mark.

The 26 field goals kicked by the big Steeler tackle was another record.

Jim Kaat of Minnesota hit 18 batters and made 13 wild pitches last season. But he had an 18-14 record and a 3.14 earned run mark.

AFL All-Star Team Selection Is Made

NEW YORK (AP)—Dallas and Houston, the two teams that meet Sunday at Houston for the American Football League title, paced a total of 11 men on the first offensive and defensive units of the All-AFL team selected for The Associated Press today by a committee of sports writers and broadcasters in the eight league cities.

Dallas, the Western Division champs, put quarterback Len Dawson, halfback Abner Hynes and end Chris Burdard on the offensive team and linebackers Sherrill Headrick and E. J. Holub and safety Bob Hunt on the defensive club.

Houston, Eastern winners for the third straight year, put flanker back Charlie Hennigan and tackle Al Jamison on the offensive team and end Don Floyd, tackle Ed Husman and corner back Tony Banfield on the defensive unit.

The first team backfield included fullback Cookie Gilchrist of Buffalo, who set a league ground gaining record of 1,096 yards rushing, and Dawson, Haynes and Hennigan.

Teaming up with Burford, who will miss the title game because of injuries, was Lionel Taylor of Denver. Harold Olson of Buffalo got the other offensive tackle job with Jamison. Buffalo's Billy Shaw and San Diego's Ron Mix are the guards. Jim Otto, the dependable Oakland center, again was named to that post.

Larry Eisenhauer of Boston and Bud McFadin of Denver teamed up with Floyd and Husman for the "front four" on defense. Larry Grantham of the New York Titans joined Headrick and Holub as the linebackers.

The defensive backs are Fred Williamson of Oakland, Austin Gonsoulin of Denver and Banfield and Hunt.

The American League had four 20-game winners last season, led by Yankee Ralph Terry's 23. Dick Donovan of Cleveland, Ray Herbert of the White Sox and Camilo Pascual of the Twins won 20 games each.

Baltimore barely nosed out Los Angeles for the American League, team pitching title last season, 3.692 to 3.695 in the earned run records.

Foreign Teams Thump Ohio College Cagers

Only 2 of 7 Buckeye Outfits Able To Chalk Victories

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Monday night was not a night for Ohio college basketball teams to test their muscles against out-of-state opponents.

Seven teams tried it, but only two found they had enough might to win. Most of the defeats were close ones.

Creighton scored four points in the last 2½ minutes to edge Ohio University 57-55; Nebraska got hot in the second half to nip Miami 72-69; Eastern Kentucky had to go through three overtimes before bumping previously unbeaten Wittenberg 65-63, and Seattle was barely able to stave off a Xavier really in defeating the Musketeers 76-74.

In a more one-side tussle Iowa State led most of the way to hand Toledo its second loss of the season, 69-51.

The only teams which kept Ohioans from a complete whitewashing were Muskingum and Baldwin-Wallace. The Muskies ran Wabash of Indiana into submission with a fast breaking offense that ran up a 95-60 score. Baldwin-Wallace, after losing its first two games on an eastern trip, edged Stetson of Florida 73-72.

In an Ohio Conference game, Denison climbed to the .500 mark in the loop by defeating Marietta 71-59. The victory put the Big Red at a 3-3 mark. Marietta is 2-3.

Denison took the lead in the opening minutes and steadily pulled away, holding a 38-28 advantage at the intermission.

In the thriller at Eastern Kentucky, Wittenberg held a 63-61 lead in the closing seconds of the decisive overtime. Ron Pickett tied it up for the Maroons with seven seconds left and after the Tigers missed a shot, Rupert Stephens dropped in a 25-foot jump shot for Eastern's first victory of the year. Wittenberg's Bill Fisher led the scoring with 26.

The Ohio U.-Creighton battle also was a cliff hanger. The score was tied 10 times in the second half and the lead changed hands on 14 occasions.

Tenth-ranked Seattle, which defeated Dayton last Saturday, had a 14-point lead midway through the second half but the rally, in which the Musketeers scored 10 straight points at one point, fell short.

Nebraska's Ivan Grupe was Miami's nemesis. He scored 18 points in the second half. The game was tied 33-33 at the end of the first half.

Foreign Teams Thump Ohio College Cagers

Only 2 of 7 Buckeye Outfits Able To Chalk Victories

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Monday night was not a night for Ohio college basketball teams to test their muscles against out-of-state opponents.

Seven teams tried it, but only two found they had enough might to win.

Most of the defeats were close ones.
Creighton scored four points in the last 2½ minutes to edge Ohio University 57-55; Nebraska got hot in the second half to nip Miami 72-69; Eastern Kentucky had to go through three overtimes before bumping previously unbeaten Wittenberg 65-63, and Seattle was barely able to stave off a Xavier rally in defeating the Musketeers 76-74.

In a more one-side tussle Iowa State led most of the way to hand Toledo its second loss of the season, 69-51.

The only teams which kept Ohioans from a complete whitewashing were Muskingum and Baldwin-Wallace. The Muskies ran Wabash of Indiana into submission with a fast breaking offense that ran up a 95-60 score. Baldwin-Wallace, after losing its first two games on an eastern trip, edged Stetson of Florida 73-72.

In an Ohio Conference game, Denison climbed to the .500 mark in the loop by defeating Marietta 71-59. The victory put the Big Red at a 3-3 mark. Marietta is 2-3.

Denison took the lead in the opening minutes and steadily pulled away, holding a 38-28 advantage at the intermission.
In the thriller at Eastern Kentucky, Wittenberg held a 63-61 lead in the closing seconds of the decisive overtime. Ron Pickett tied it up for the Maroons with seven seconds left and after the Tigers missed a shot, Rupert Stephens dropped in a 25-foot jump shot for Eastern's first victory of the year. Wittenberg's Bill Fisher led the scoring with 26.

The Ohio U.-Creighton battle also was a cliff hanger. The score was tied 10 times in the second half and the lead changed hands on 14 occasions.

Tenth-ranked Seattle, which defeated Dayton last Saturday, had a 14-point lead midway through the second half but the rally, in which the Musketeers scored 10 straight points at one point, fell short.

Nebraska's Ivan Grube was Miami's nemesis. He scored 18 points in the second half. The game was tied 33-33 at the end of the first half.

Rail Merger Hailed, Rapped

Commerce Commission Gets Varied Testimony

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Either the proposed merger of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads will create pockets of poverty or it will improve efficiency and contribute to an improved industrial climate.

Depending on who was testifying, these were the conflicting pictures painted here Monday during an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing.

Robert Flohr, president of Transit Workers Local 2027, said the merger could create "a pocket of poverty" in Crestline, a railroad center in Crawford County for over a century. He said the plan includes discontinuing the Pennsylvania main freight line running through Crestline.

Another Transit Workers Union spokesman, J. O. Diaz, president of Local 2005, Columbus, labeled the proposed consolidation a clear and present danger to Columbus and to Ohio.

He said the two railroads paid $10.5 million in state and local taxes in Ohio in 1960. Diaz asserted that if the merger was approved state-supported institutions and agencies would be "sharply diminished once the tax duplicates have been revised."

He also spoke of the loss of transportation facilities to local industry and the loss of jobs or job changes for railroad employees. He added that the "downgrading in the city's (Columbus) main transportation artery" probably would have an effect on the Columbus defense industries.

Representatives of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, Farm Bureau and the Ohio Warehouses, Inc., had other theories.

Herschel C. Atkinson, executive vice president of the chamber, said the merger would contribute to making the state more productive, more competitive and more likely to provide employment.

Mark L. Keith of the Farm Bureau said consolidation into a "single financially sound railroad system" is a step toward rail service improvements.

Unique New Labor Contract Approved by Kaiser Steel

FONTANA, Calif. (AP)—Kaiser Steel Corp. and the United Steelworkers have unveiled a unique new labor agreement designed to ease the pinch of automation.

The plan, announced Monday, was developed in three years of meetings by a special, nine-man committee.

The agreement provides for re-training employees who lose their jobs because of automation.

And, as production costs per item decrease, worker pay checks will get larger. So also will tax payments to the government and, of course, company profits. This portion of the pact is called a "cost savings" plan.

The agreement is subject to worker approval, but David J. McDonald, president of the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers of America, predicted at the joint news conference here Monday that it will pass handily.

The election probably will be held in January, he added. Affected will be all the 7,000 Kaiser workers here.

The pact includes a pledge that employees will receive at least the wage level of the steel industry. "There has to be a floor," said a company spokesman, "and it will be the Big Steel floor. But we never expect it to be considered because this plan will provide a higher income than the minimum."

McDonald called the agreement "a great step forward toward industry peace." He declined to say whether the plan will be pursued for adoption elsewhere.

The contract is to be for four years in effect and subject to annual revision and review.

The cost savings plan works like this:

The year 1961 was selected as a base to determine the costs of labor and material for each on of finished steel.

As technology increases output, unit costs are expected to decrease. It is this savings which will go into the special fund for monthly distribution. The employees will get 32.5 per cent of the total.

Officials pointed out that the plan is different from most incentive and profit-sharing plans because it is based on production costs instead of on an individual employee's output.

The spokesmen would make no estimate of the actual worker benefits possible through the agreement.
